

Joe is Head of History & Classical Civilisation at a high achieving 11-18 comprehensive school. Having taught for over 10 years in a diverse range of schools, as well as delivering both internal and external INSET on wide variety of teaching and learning topics, he has a track record of progress at both GCSE and A level. In an ever changing educational climate he has continued to strive for excellence, embedding existing practices and providing opportunities for colleagues to excel. He is a team leader at both GCSE and A level, working for several exam boards, and is able to impart expertise on the exam mark schemes from both a student and examiner perspective. Joe runs the ELTSA History network group, meeting on a termly basis, discussing a range of issues prevalent to the teaching of History within KS3-5.

As an SLE, Joe can support History departments with:

- Preparing students to excel in the GCSE and A-Level specifications.
- Adapting KS3 SOW's and assessments to the demands of the new GCSE criteria.
- Providing insight and guidance to the GCSE exam marking process.
- Implementing effective department tracking and monitoring
- Supporting target groups at KS4
- Coaching members of staff in order to support performance management and appraisal.
